Profile

During my studies I have been interested in various fields of information technology such as Networks, Security and Web applications. They have a major role in our everyday life, while at the same time being relatively easy to get started, but also with great depth that distinguishes the real professionals. This was further confirmed when I set up for the first time a Server, namely Ubuntu Server, and when recently I decided to build my own CMS using PHP. I believe that everything you do needs attention to detail, constant updating of knowledge and a will for personal development both as an individual and as a professional, because in this way you can combat every problem or task thrown at you either it includes learning new technologies / frameworks or getting better as person.
